[4] BETDAQ was owned by Ladbrokes plc (now Ladbrokes Coral) following their acquisition in February 2013,[5] but has since been sold at the end of 2021 to Exchange Platform Solutions Limited.

Because exchanges seek to concentrate their liquidity in as few markets as possible, they are not currently suited to unrestricted multiple parlay betting.

Backing and laying

Furthermore, for a trader or arbitrageur to combine different exchanges and/or bookmakers for a profit requires a substantial price differential if a profit is in fact to be made once the exchange's commission is taken into account.

The trader therefore runs the risk of having a large unwanted bet on an event if
