&It;p>The announcement comes after Microsoft on Friday defeated a last-ditch effort by the US Federal Trade Commission to scuttle the 💲 company' sR$68.7 billion purchase of Activision Blizzard. The Ninth Circuit Court of Appe als declined to grant the regulator an emergency stay 💲 of a ruling tha t allows the deal to proceed in the US. The United Kingdom's Markets and Com petition Authority (CMA) 💲 is the last remaining regulator of note oppo sed to the purchase, but the watchdog and Microsoft recently agreed to put &#128 178; their legal battle over the deal on hold and negotiate a compromise.&It;/p &qt;

&It;p>We are pleased to announce that Microsoft and @PlayStation 💲 h ave signed a binding agreement to keep Call of Duty on PlayStation following the acquisition of Activision Blizzard. We look 💲 forward to a future wher e players globally have more choice to play their favorite games. Phil Spencer (@XboxP3) July 💲 16, 2024</p&gt;

<p&gt;&quot;From Day One of this acquisition, we ve been committed to address ing the concerns of regulators, platform and game developers, 💲 and con sumers," Microsoft President and Vice Chair Brad Smith tweeted in response to Spencer's post. "Even after we cross the 💲 finish line for this deal s approval, we will remain focused on ensuring that Call of Duty remai ns available on more 💲 platforms and for more consumers than ever befor e."</p&gt;

<p&gt;Spencer did not disclose the terms of Microsoft&#39;s deal with Sony, t hough Stephen 💲 Totilo of Axios later confirmed that it is 10 years in duration. Microsoft first offered Sony a 10-year deal to 💲 keep Call of Duty on current and future PlayStation consoles at the end of last year, though the Japanese electronics 💲 giant turned down the olive branch at the t ime. In an effort to secure approval from regulators, including the FTC &#128178 ; and CMA, Microsoft went on to sign an agreement with Nintendo to bring the se ries to the company's future consoles. 💲 It also came to terms with cloud gaming providers like NVIDIA.</p&gt;

<p&gt;Before today, Jim Ryan, the president and CEO of Sony &#128178; Intera ctive Entertainment, made clear he was strongly opposed to Microsoft&#39;s Activ ision bid. I don t want a new Call of Duty &#128178; deal. I just want to bloc k your merger, Ryan told Activision CEO Bobby Kotick. I told him [Kotick] that I &#128178; thought the transaction was anti-competitive, I hoped that the reg ulators would do their job and block it, Ryan later said &#128178; during his testimony at the FTC v. Microsoft hearing. But with the purchase all but set to
